Gannett Board elects new director

McLEAN, VA – Lidia Fonseca, senior vice president and chief information officer at Quest Diagnostics (NYSE: DGX), has been elected to the Board of Directors of Gannett Co., Inc. (NYSE: GCI), effective July 1, 2014, the company announced.

“Lidia has extraordinary expertise in driving technology innovation across platforms on a national and international scale. She also has an exceptional understanding of how technology enables businesses to thrive. Lidia will be a terrific addition to the board,” said Gannett Chairman Marge Magner.

Gracia Martore, Gannett’s president and chief executive officer, said, “The addition of Lidia to our board underscores our commitment to advancing our company’s strategy for growth. Her hands-on experience implementing innovative digital solutions for consumers and customer focus will be invaluable resources. I’m delighted she will be joining us and welcome her to the board.”

Fonseca joined Quest Diagnostics April 2. Fonseca is an advisory board member of Medivo, Inc., a leading healthcare data company; and prior to joining Quest Diagnostics, was senior vice president and chief information officer at Laboratory Corporation of America in Burlington, NC. Fonseca earlier served as executive vice president of Global Operations and Technology of Synarc Inc. and served in a variety of executive roles at Phillips Healthcare.

With Fonseca’s election, Gannett has 10 directors.
